

I oppose the petition filed by the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) in the state of Indiana. If these businesses truly have an "established business relationship" with consumers, there should be no need for them to file their federal petition.